FOREWORD

We, the Class of 1958, are proud to present our yearbook, Steel-High. We have chosen Foundations as our theme in presenting this collection, the foundation for reminiscences as time slips by.

Through the years, parents and friends built with love, religion, and instruction, the framework for our foundations. Into this mold we poured the concrete of joy, friendships, happiness, successes, tempered by hardships, sorrow, and defeats. Now, standing on firm groundwork, we look to the future, a future holding possibilities more awesome, more challenging than those faced by any graduating class before us. But we realize that the erosive forces of materialism accompany man's great scientific developments. So, may we overcome our human weaknesses and as time passes, construct our buildings higher, higher, toward the goal of peace and brotherly love, until looking back through the pages of this volume, we can thank God for true success built on firm foundations.

To the Class of 1958:

It is a real pleasure to bring to the members of the Class greetings from the Board of Education and heartiest congratulations both on the successful conclusion of your term in our schools and on your new "Steel-High" yearbook.

Your Class has had the privilege of seeing "Foundations" laid during your Senior Year which are expected to keep our educational system on the high plane for which all of us strive. Just so, may the "Foundations" you have laid for your life's work during your twelve years in these schools give the support needed to make your lives the happy and useful ones we all so earnestly hope will be yours.

Walter B. Lang, President

D E D I C A T I O N

With gratitude and respect the Class of 1958 takes pride in dedicating its yearbook to Dr. Harold T. Griffith, first superintendent of the Steelton-Highspire School System.

Dr. Griffith merits considerable credit for his untiring efforts in the interest of the recent jointure. Through the cooperation of the members of the Board of Education with Dr. Griffith, a major benefit of this union can be seen in our community's new junior-senior high school building, rapidly nearing completion.

Through conscientious execution of duty and sincere concern for the welfare of the school, Dr. Griffith has done much to strengthen the firm academic foundations upon which our present and future students may build well to meet Life's challenge.

Class of 1958:

In addition to the usual significance of graduation, you have the distinction of being the first class to graduate under the name of the Steelton-Highspire High School. Your Commencement marks the close of one epoch of education and the beginning of another in the two communities. Although you are actually the products of two different school systems, your graduation is symbolic of the first steps in the fusion of these systems for the benefit of all.

From recently laid foundations a new building worthy of the two communities is rapidly emerging. Although the building will be new, the amalgamation of all that is best in our respective traditions and achievements should serve to provide a firm educational foundation for an even better schooling for future pupils.

You have our prayers and best wishes for future success and happiness.

H. T. Griffith

To the Seniors:

The credit for your being a senior is shared jointly by you, your parents, and your teachers.

Your future is now largely in your own hands. We hope we have helped instil in you the ability and willingness to make a worthwhile contribution to society at large and your community in particular.

By all means continue to work in your church. You and your future family may then look forward to success and happiness.

IN APPRECIATION

Yearbooks are cherished
as souvenirs of irreplaceable high school days. They are very special volumes where one may preserve tangible reminders of high school joys and sorrows, defeats and triumphs. We would like to express our appreciation to the Boosters and Advertisers for the practical manner in which they assured us of their interest in the publishing of
"Steel-High", 1958.

Schools Recognize NEA Centennial During American Education Week

The year 1957 was particularly significant to the progress of education in our country, for it marked the Centennial of the National Education Association, an organization that has played such an important part in helping to raise the quality of American public schools to its high present-day level.

During American Education Week, November 11 to 17, the Steelton-Highspire chapter of this association encouraged the co-operation of teachers, pupils, and local merchants in preparing window displays designed to stimulate a stronger community interest in school activities. This effort proved even timelier because of the NEA Centennial. The photographs on this page show clearly that the project was a success.

Why isn't he interested? We wonder.

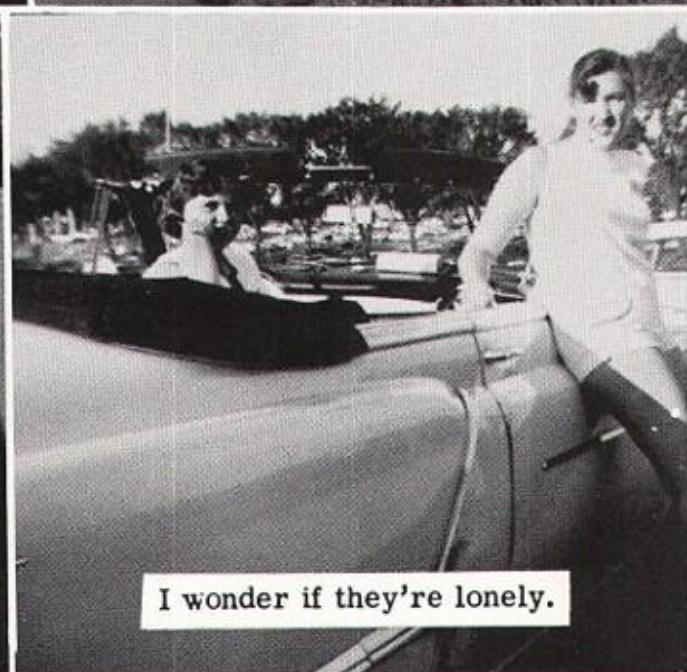

They're on their way to practice.

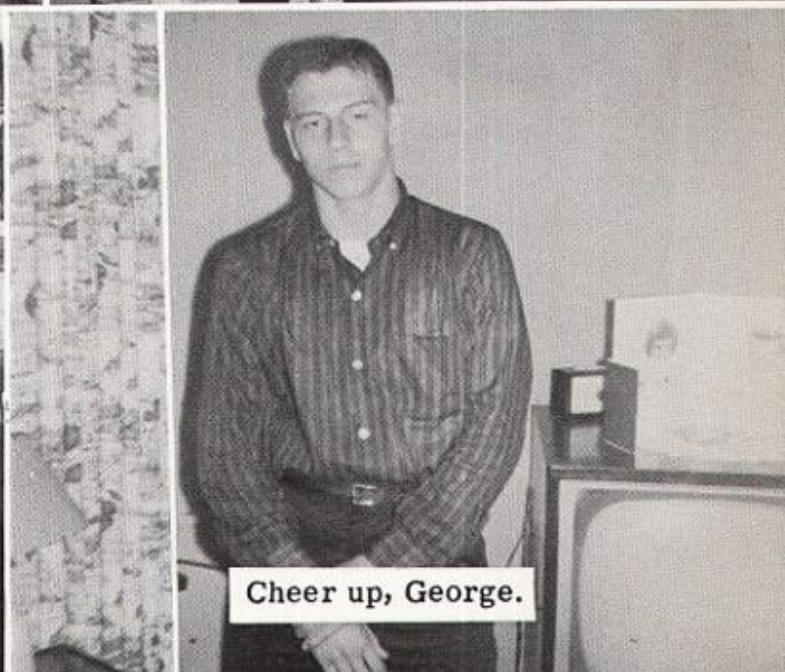

What are they waiting for?

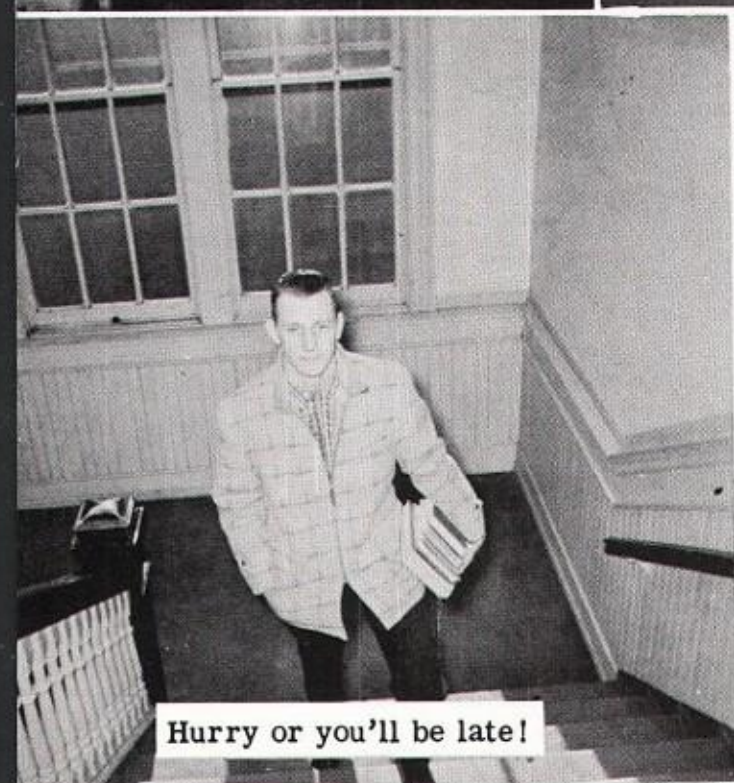

Seniors come and go through these doors.

I wonder if they're lonely.

Cheer up, George.

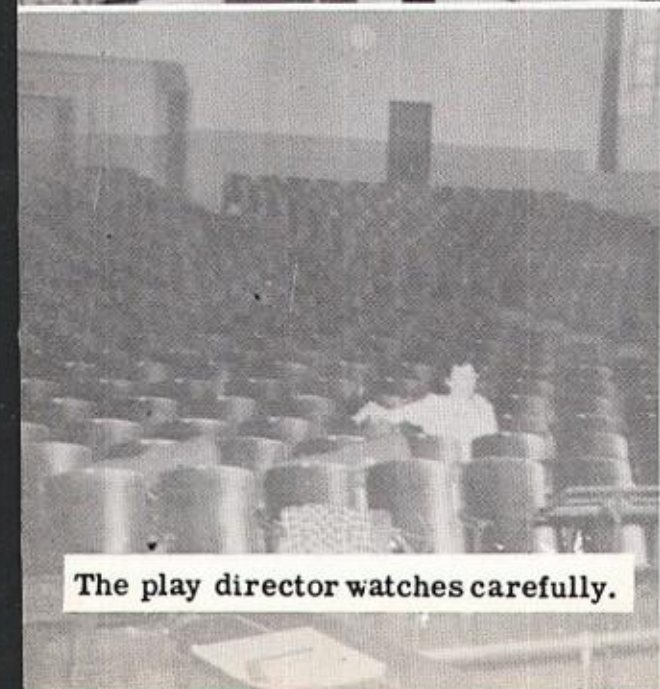

Hurry or you'll be late!

The encore pleases.

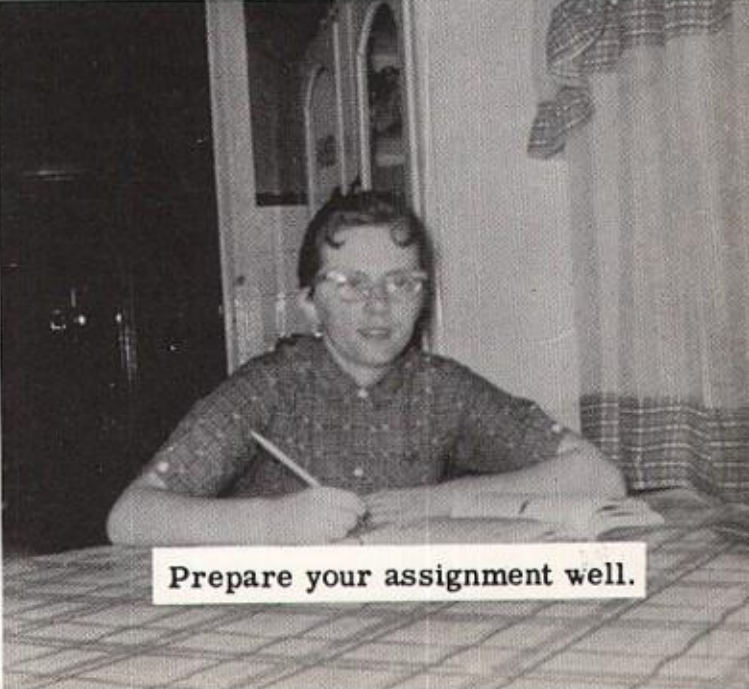

What has he found?

The play director watches carefully.

We have plenty of time.

Prepare your assignment well.

Senior Recognition Day

The teaching and administration of Steelton High School was in the capable hands of Seniors on November 15, 1958. Parents and teachers were invited to the Home School for refreshments served by the Class of 1958. This page tells a picture-story of the efficiency of the Seniors as they performed teaching tasks that may aid in the choices of careers.

Oh, that dear old Blue and White,
That dear old Blue and White,
That dear old Blue and White
That Steelton wore;
It was ragged, it was torn,
For years it has been worn,
That dear old Blue and White
That Steelton wore.

E

Oh, that dear old Blue and White,
That dear old Blue and White,
That dear old Blue and White
That Steelton wore;
We shall wear it to the top,
No school shall make it drop,
That dear old Blue and White
That Steelton wore.

H.H.S.

H

To thee we raise our voices,
To thee, dear Highspire High,
And our love for thee rejoices
With the dearest, fondest tie;
Our hearts no longer sever,
For we no courage lack,
But united stand forever
'Neath the Orange and the Black.

I

G

As we leave these walls behind us
To enter life's great throng,
May His blessings be upon us
To show us right from wrong;
We may banish care and sadness
As we turn our memories back,
And recall those days of gladness
'Neath the Orange and the Black.

BOOSTERS

Christmas morning is full of surprise.

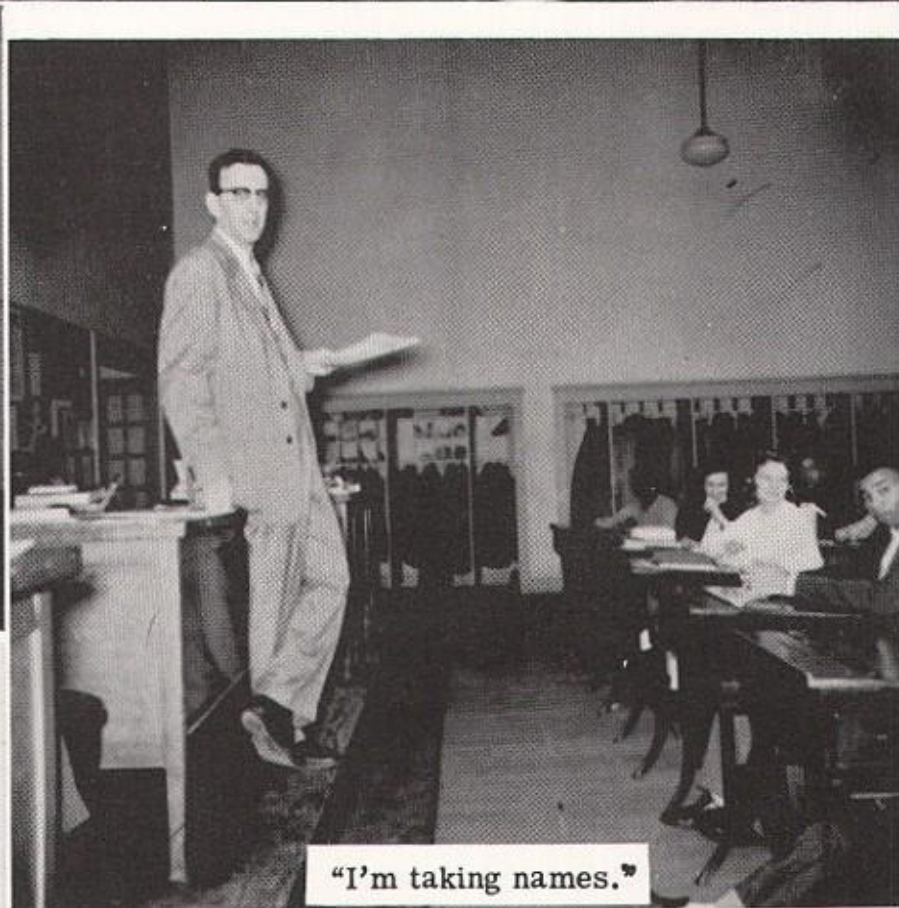

Did you ever hear this tune?

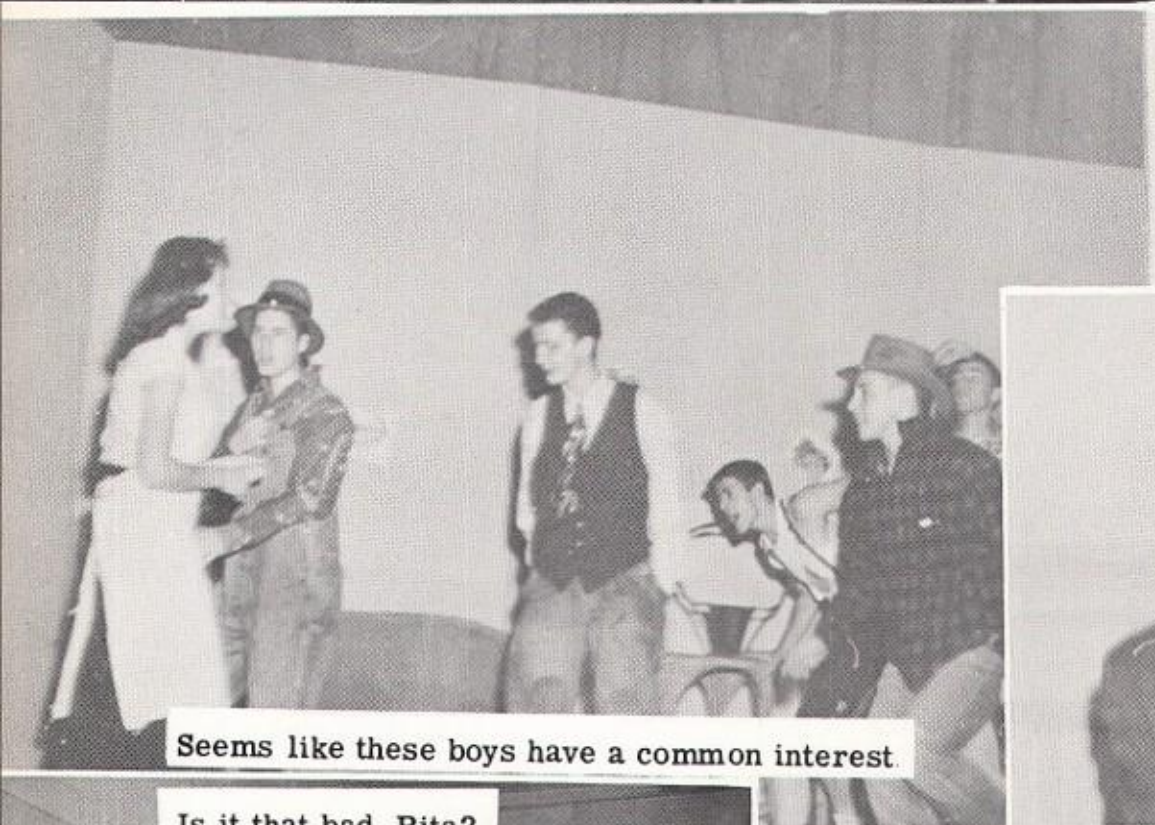

The director takes a bow.

The actors take time out.

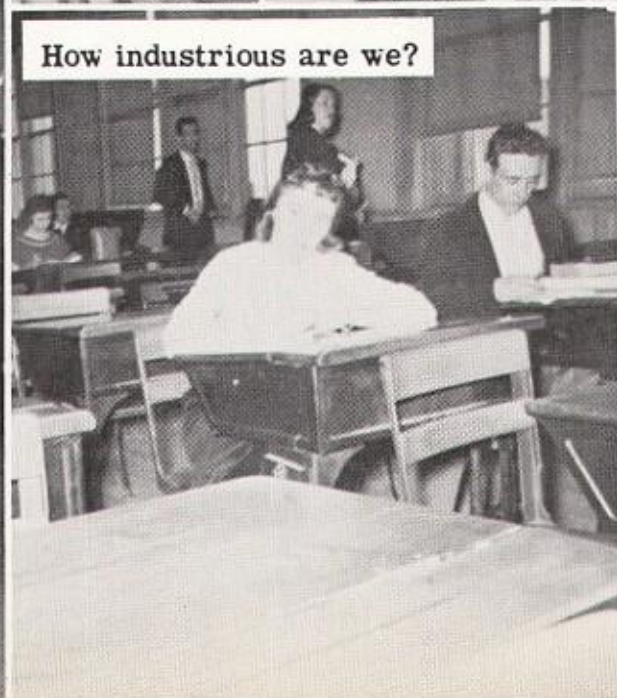

"I'm taking names."

Seems like these boys have a common interest.

Is it that bad, Rita?

How industrious are we?

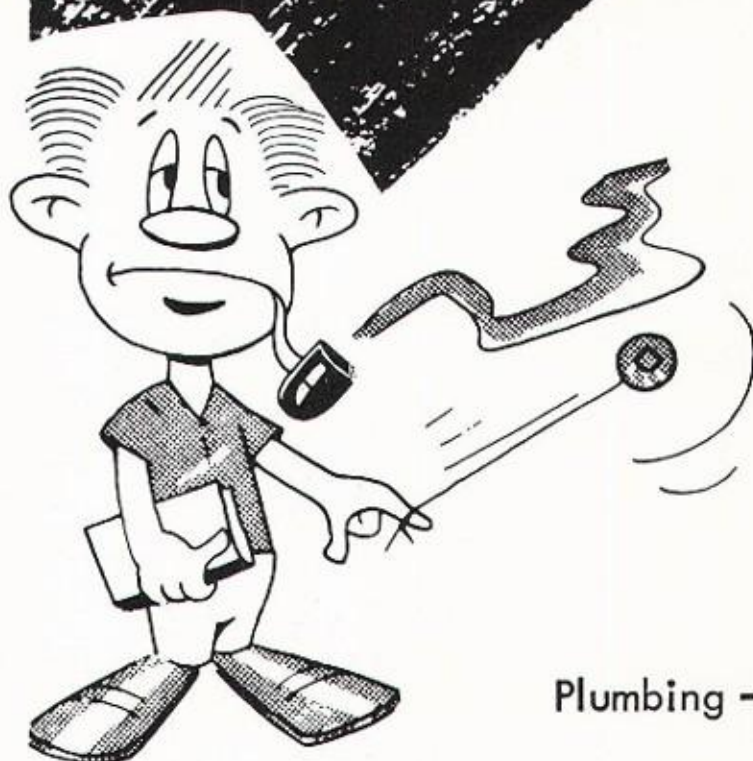

Is it a thriller?

The flag custodians doing their duty.

What's everyone looking at?
